

Integrating Community Leadership Strategies on the Pathway to Effective System Change in Kentucky

PHASE ONE

1 Disrupt System Mindsets & Habits

2 Community Engagement

Develop and Implement a Racial Equity Lens

Shift expectations about timelines and outcomes

Prioritize Community Relationships and Trust

Broaden the decision-making table

Create varied, accessible, and substantial engagement opportunities

PHASE TWO

3 Invest in Communities

Position Community to Take the Lead

Recognize and cultivate community Strengths and Skills

PHASE THREE

4 Transform Systems

Establish Community Ownership Over System Responses and Resources

Scale Up & Share Out

Build Collaborative Infrastructure

Commit to Continuous Learning and Evaluation

5 Embed Community Leadership

Integrating Community Leadership Strategies on the Pathway to Effective System Change in Kentucky

BRIGHTON CENTER
A COMMUNITY OF SUPPORT

Brighton Center's Building Community Well-Being Project Intersection with Chapin Hall's Community Leadership Framework

1

2

Family Coaches

3

Parent Cafes
Parent Partners
Parent Pods
Parent and Youth Advisory Board
Primary Prevention Credential

4

Community Response Program

5

Community Well-Being Alliance
Community Well-Being Alliance Workgroups

- Technology
- Training
- Engagement
- Well-Being

Continuous Quality Improvement Processes
Follow Up Consultation Calls

NOTES

Note: The strategies/action steps outlined in the Chapin Hall brief did not need to be implemented in totality or sequentially, and can be applied in any order depending on capacity, resources, etc.

CONNECT WITH US

Janese Evans, LPC

Associate Policy Analyst
Chapin Hall

in janese-evans-lpc-cqia-a432a53b/
jevans@chapinhall.org

Melissa Hall Sommer

Senior Vice President
Brighton Center, Inc.

in melissa-hall-sommer-2b98219
msommer@brightoncenter.com

Angela Anderson, MSW, CSW

Building Community Well-Being Coordinator
Brighton Center, Inc.

in angela-anderson-24289a11a
aanderson@brightoncenter.com